

Bully's Truck Stop joins the Mohawk Race Parts Pro-Stock Series

Cornwall On – Tuesday, April 21, 2009 – Martin Bélanger – The Mohawk Race Parts Pro-Stock Series will have a new sponsor joining the family, Bully's Truck Stop will offer a complete Pro-Stock chassis in the driver's attendance in the series.

Located in Kahnawake, Quebec and owned by Wallace Stacey, a modified driver that competes at local track in Quebec and Ontario, Bully's Truck Stop is a popular stop for truck drivers that pass on road 132 in Quebec. Bully's Truck Stop who will replace the Pépinière du Golf that was the main sponsor of this bonus last year, will give a complete Pro-Stock chassis in a draw involving the drivers that took part in all the races in the series.

The series will start at Autodrome Drummond on Saturday, June 13, will then head to Autodrome Edelweiss on Friday, June 26, the drivers will move to the Cornwall Motor Speedway for the first of two visits, on Sunday, July 5th, the series will shift south of the border to the Mohawk International Raceway on Friday, August 14. The champion will be crowned in the fifth and final race at Cornwall on Sunday, September 6.

A solid field of cars including some of the best Pro-Stock drivers on the DIRTcar circuit should make for a great show at every stop in the series. With an average of 20 cars per race, anyone can win the race!
